

The Department of English Linguistics proudly presents

English Linguistics Thesis Talk

May 17, 2022 – 18:00 c.t.

Philosophiegebäude, HS 2*

We are thrilled to present a new format, especially (but not only) for Linguistics PhD and Master students: Two postdocs are invited at a time to give short talks about their PhD projects – this time our speakers are:

Dr. Alena Soloshenko
(University of Würzburg)

© A. Soloshenko

The Dynamics of Emotions in Legal Discourse

Dr. Fabio Carrella
(University of Bristol)

© F. Carrella

Populism and Social Media:
A Study of European Populist Parties'
Language on Twitter and Facebook

Afterwards we will be joined by Dr. Christina Domene Moreno (University of Würzburg) for a panel discussion about thesis writing and career planning strategies – everyone is invited to join the discussion and ask questions!

* Attendance online (via Zoom) also possible! For details and registration, scan this QR code or visit:
<https://www.neuphil.uni-wuerzburg.de/anglistik/abteilungen/englische-sprachwissenschaft/events/>

(presented as part of Linguistisches Kolloquium)

