

Wed., 16 July 2025 / 6.15 p.m.

Philosophiegebäude, H 5

David Schalkwyk

Director of the Centre for Global Shakespeares, Queen Mary University of London

Love and Time

in Romeo and Juliet
and Troilus and Cressida

In his guest lecture, David Schalkwyk – author of Speech and Performance in Shakespeare's Sonnets and Plays (2002), Literature and the Touch of the Real (2004), Shakespeare, Love and Service (2008), Hamlet's Dreams: The Robben Island Shakespeare (Bloomsbury, 2013), Words in the World: The Bakhtin Circle (2016), and Shakespeare, Love and Language (2019) – will explore the different ways in which Romeo and Juliet and Troilus and Cressida treat love, especially in the light of its necessary vulnerability to the iteration of time and desire.

