Resource Collection on WueCampus American History

American Studies
Würzburg

From George Washington to Joe Biden, from the 1619 Project and the enslavement of Africans to Civil Rights, from the Declaration of Independence to the Women's suffrage and Gay Liberation movements – this resource collection on WueCampus guides you through the diverse history of the US.

By providing you with various materials to study on your own, the course is suitable for everyone – whether you are just beginning your English/American Studies degree and want a broad overview. The material will also help you for your „Staatsexamen“-preparation.

Background readings, key texts, podcasts, videos, literary texts, primary sources – our broad and self-explanatory collection of materials can make you an expert of American history.

To access the resource collection, please scan the QR-code and log in with your WueCampus credentials. Alternatively, you can search for the course on WueCampus. You will find the course under “Meine Kurse > Semesterübergreifend”.

If you have any questions or comments, feel free to contact us.
