

FJUEL 2025: Program

Zentrum für Philologie und Digitalität (ZPD), University of Würzburg
Campus Hubland Nord | Emil-Hilb-Weg 23 | 97074 Würzburg
Room 00.002

Friday, 10.10.25

10:00-10:30	Registration
10:30-10:45	Conference opening
10:45-11:15	Veronika Kilian (Bamberg) "Mr President, not one more, ni una más": English as a Lingua Franca in anti-discriminatory political discourse
11:15-11:45	Johanna Dahl (Würzburg) The Preverbal Intensifier so : Diachronic Development and Placement in the Verb Phrase
11:45-12:15	Coffee break
12:15-12:45	Carina Stick (Würzburg) Politeness in Hong Kong business correspondence: an update
12:45-13:15	Julian Mader (Munich) Revisiting the possessive apostrophe in Late Modern English: A variationist study based on patient letters
13:15-14:15	Lunch (Mensa Hubland Süd)
14:15-14:45	Lea Bracke (Bamberg) Acquiring English Language Proficiency in German Secondary Education: A Focus on Accuracy from the Perspective of Individual Variation
14:45-15:15	Annika Kassler (Erlangen-Nürnberg) Can adults incidentally acquire artificial language grammar with sufficient exposure?
15:15-15:45	Regina Grund (Würzburg) English Future Time Reference: Data-driven learning in a digital context
15:45-16:30	Coffee break Poster session
16:30-17:00	Vladimir Buskin (Eichstätt) Is FrameNet usage-based? Predicting frame element types with information-theoretic measures
17:00-17:30	Johannes Trüdinger (Bayreuth) Automating Modality: AI-Driven Semantic Analysis of Scottish Standard English
17:30	Evening program

Posters

Johannes Trüdinger (Bayreuth)

AI-Based Automatic Speech Recognition for Advancing Aviation English Research

Anna Centner (Würzburg)

English Tweets on the Ukraine Russia War from New York – Assessing Attitudes with a Linguistic Framework

Saturday, 11.10.25

Workshop: NLP and English linguistics

Richard Lemoine Rodríguez & Lisa Lehen

10:00-12:00	Workshop part I
12:00-13:00	Lunch (Hubland Center)
13:00-14:30	Workshop part II

Please bring a computer with access to Google Drive.